

16 TRAINEES
TO REPORT FOR MARCH 25 CALL

Induction Will Make Month's Total for State 8,173

[By the Associated Press]
Harrisburg, Pa., March 4.—Local board quotas for the United States Army's second March call for 4,397 trainees from Pennsylvania were announced yesterday by the state selective service headquarters.

The call provides for induction of 4,100 whites and 297 negroes between March 21 and 31 at induction centers in Pittsburgh, Altoona, Wilkes-Barre and Philadelphia. It brings the total number of Pennsylvanians called in March to 8,173 men.

16 County Trainees

The Adams county draft boards will furnish 16 trainees for induction at Harrisburg on March 25. Nine of them will come from District No. 1 and seven from District No. 2.

The probable trainees from Board No. 2 at Gettysburg for the March 25 call will be:

David Wilson Rohrbaugh, Gettysburg R. 2.
Edward Joseph McSherry, 59 West Middle street.
Francis Joseph Cole, Jr., Biglerville R. 1.
Walter Lenwood Hartung, 639 South Washington street.
G. Noel Flynn, 11 Baltimore street.
Elton M. Pepple, Cashtown.
Quinton Albert Shultz, Biglerville R. 2.

Board No. 1's Selectees

Members of Draft Board No. 1 at a regular meeting in New Oxford Monday evening directed that notices be sent to these eight men to report March 19 to fill the board's fourth quota:

691-V Richard Paul Lawrence, 31, Ridge avenue, McSherrystown, a factory worker in Hanover. ("V" indicates volunteer.)
1554-V Raymond Pascoe, 30, Linden avenue, Hanover, laborer.
107 Marvin Chester Dayhoff, who will be 22 years old Wednesday, Hanover R. 1, a furniture inspector at the Gettysburg Panel company.
112 John Jacob Hoff, 24, Hampton, a quarry worker.
113 Luther Henry Jacobs, 27, East Berlin, inspector in a York factory.
120 Ralph Monath Wildasin, 23, Maple avenue, Hanover, a shoe worker.
123 Claude Andrew Prosser, 26, Gardners R. 1, stenographer and typist for the Harrisburg Steel company.
152 Leroy Melvin Byers, 22, Gettysburg R. 4, employee of Adams Apple Products company.

These nine men now head the order list for District No. 1 and may be drafted for the new call on March 25, although several volunteers are being examined and may be given precedence on the order list:

Richard Charles Lawrence, Hanover R. 4.
William Clair Stambaugh, Dover, R. 2.
Samuel Joseph Witter, New Oxford R. 3.
Oscar Glenwood Rippberger, Gettysburg R. 4.
Cleason Edgar Smith, Jr., East Berlin.
Charles William Sheeringer, Littlestown R. 2.
Carl Wilson Howe, York Springs R. 2.
Simon Francis Kuhn, Gettysburg R. 5.
Richard Clair Storm, 511 North street, McSherrystown.

The New Oxford board will meet again next Monday evening.

ORDER GYPSIES FROM COUNTY

Sheriff D. J. Wolff and Privates Arthur R. Gore and John Thompson of the local detail of the state motor police ordered a band of about 20 gypsies who had camped at Twin Bridge park, Monday, to get out of the county by this morning. The officers expected to make a check-up visit at the park this afternoon.

STOCK REPORT

New York, March 4 (AP)—Rallying inclinations were displayed by leading stocks in today's market although most were rather feeble. The list got off to a hesitant start then prices began to edge forward. Near mid-day fractional advances were in the majority. Dealings, however, were even slower than in the preceding session.

Turkish Cabinet Considers Hitler's Special Message

Tension mounted in the area shown in this map after Bulgaria adhered to the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis and Nazi troops overran the country clear to the frontiers of Greece and Turkey, which latter nation closed the strategic Dardanelles and mined the waters to enforce the closing. Map locates strategic Salonika, Greek seaport, and Sofia, where Nazi Balkan army headquarters were reported established.

German Luftwaffe Attacks Cardiff for 5 Hours; Balkans Tension Grows

Ankara, Turkey, March 4 (AP)—The Turkish cabinet went into session today to consider a special message from Adolf Hitler to President Inonu.

The message was delivered by airplane courier.

The cabinet met at 2 p. m. (7 a. m. EST.) and still was in session this evening.

Field Marshal Fevzi Cakmak, chief of the Turkish general staff, attended the meeting.

It was understood that Premier Saydam would broadcast to the nation in the near future.

A government communique said President Inonu received Hitler's message about noon and that the President asked German Ambassador Franz Von Papen, who accompanied a German mission which presented it, to thank the fuhrer.

Nothing, however, was disclosed as to the contents of the message.

(In Sofia, authoritative diplomatic quarters said the message was an attempt to get Turkey to trade her British alliance for one with Germany—"since only the reich can protect Turkey against the historic designs of Russia.")

[By the Associated Press]
Germany's Luftwaffe attacked the port of Cardiff, South Wales, with a five-hour hail of incendiary bombs last night—described as British officials as one of the greatest fire raids of the war—while R.A.F. bombers pounded Cologne in the German Rhineland.

Dispatches from Cardiff said smoking ruins marked a trail of destruction across the city this morning.

The toll of dead and wounded was not immediately estimated. During the night, as wave after wave of Nazi warplanes swept the city with fire-bombs and high explosives, the American Red Cross rushed ambulances from London, 160 miles away.

British-Bulgarian Break

Amid this surge of renewed aerial violence, the crisis in the Balkans moved nearer the breaking-point.

Authoritative quarters in London said Britain might break off relations with Bulgaria "within the next 24 hours"—with the action presumably to be followed by a declaration of war.

A high neutral diplomatic source in Sofia quoted British Minister George W. Rendel as saying he has now decided to sever British relations with Bulgaria within 36 hours.

Rendel is said to have full freedom.

Off on a 1,450-Mile Trek; to Pass Through Gettysburg

One of the longest treks in the nation's military history began as the 172d Field Artillery left Manchester, New Hampshire, for Camp Blanding, Florida. The outfit consisted of 94 automobiles, four motorcycles, ten 3-ton trailers, 12 howitzers, 21 officers and 257 enlisted men. Other New England units will join the caravan. Stops for rest will be made along the 1,450-mile route. Gettysburg police have been notified that the soldiers and their equipment will pass through Gettysburg on next Saturday enroute to Camp Blanding. The soldiers will camp at York Friday night and go on to Charlottesville, Virginia, on Saturday.

SPORTSMEN TO OPEN ANNUAL SHOW MONDAY

Prepare Hotel Annex
for Biggest Display

With more than five times as much space available than for any previous show, John S. Ogden, chairman of the Sportsmen's show committee, is making preparations for the biggest county sportsmen's display in the history of the event. The annual show will open next Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the Hotel Gettysburg annex.

The show room will be open daily from 9 a. m. until midnight from Monday through Saturday of that week. No admission price will be charged at any time. Motion pictures or other types of entertainment will be provided for each evening.

Invitations Cover Large Area

All sportsmen's organizations within a 50-mile radius of Gettysburg have been invited to visit the show next week and every school in the county has received a letter inviting the teachers to bring classes to the show room for an educational visit.

One of the features of the show is to be placed in a large area reserved for displays to be brought here by the state Fish and Game commissions from Philadelphia where they are on display now. The entire north side of the annex room is reserved for that display. Live game will be included in the show again this year.

Free Catalogs Available

Members of the Women's auxiliary of the Adams county Fish and Game association, which is sponsoring the show, will devote one section of the show room to a needlework display and will give prizes for the best entries. Other display areas along the sides and on the walls will be devoted to a wide variety of exhibits of general interest. The county agent's office and the office of the home economics extension representative will place displays. The central section of the show room will be devoted to commercial displays.

Free catalogs containing pictures of interest to sportsmen will be handed to each show visitor.

Late Flashes

Sofia, Bulgaria, March 4 (AP)—British Minister George W. Rendel informed United States Minister George H. Earle today that Britain was breaking relations with Bulgaria tomorrow and Earle instructed the American legation to start preparing to take over custody of British property throughout the country.

London, March 4 (AP)—The British government decided today to shut down or consolidate more than 50 civilian industries employing 1,000,000 workers and to shift all available manpower and materials to arms manufacture.

Moscow (via Berlin), Feb. 24 (Delayed)—Laurence A. Steinhardt, United States Ambassador to Russia, has made representations to Premier Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov against five raids on the Roman Catholic church of the Rev. Leopold Braun, an American, it was learned today in diplomatic quarters.

Menallen Is Only Remaining Active Friends
Meeting House in County; Origin in 1750s

View of the present Menallen Friends Meeting House, near Flora Dale, only Meeting House in Adams County still in use.

Menallen Friends Meeting House, a little red brick structure on the Gettysburg-Carlisle road, near Flora Dale, is the only remaining active Meeting House in Adams county. Huntington Friends Meeting House, of which a brief history was published in The Gettysburg Times several weeks ago, is only used once a year.

Menallen Meeting House is believed to have been built in the early 1750s. The exact date of its coming into being is not definitely known. In 1746 Sadsbury Monthly Meeting "tolerated the Friends of Monalin [Menallen] to have Meetings of Worship to be kept on first Day and Fifth day until Further Orders." Sadsbury Meeting House was located in Lancaster county.

Records are available indicating that Menallen Friends had a Meeting House of their own as early as 1759.

The original site was near an old grave yard at the junction of the Heidersburg-Biglerville and Heidersburg-Aspers roads. The grave yard remains and was recently cleared of heavy growths, and fenced in.

In 1839 the old log Meeting House was dismantled and moved about three miles to the north-west to its approximate present site. The edifice was weather-boarded and this building was used by Menallen Friends until 1884 when the old log structure gave way to the present brick building, a short distance from the old structure. The south half of the edifice was used as a school room and it was here that a number of prominent Adams countians received their early schooling.

One of the early teachers was the late Miss Mary E. Griest, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus S. Griest and a sister of Mrs. Aaron I. Weidner, of Arendtsville.

Early Pupils

Some of the early pupils included: The late Chester J. Tyson, William C. Tyson, Arthur E. Griest, Fred E. Griest, Ryland Wright, Dr. Albert Cook Myers, a native of York Springs, now of Moylan, Pa., and his two sisters, Miss E. Mae Myers, a teacher of history in Friends Select School, Philadelphia and the late Georgia Cook Myers (the late Mrs. (Continued on Page Four)

WESTERN CITIES
BACK LINCOLN
HIGHWAY REPAIR

Mittinger Will Promote
"Main Street of America"

Howard C. Mittinger, former proprietor of the Hoffman hotel, York street, and more recently proprietor of the Lee-Hoffman hotel, Blairsville, Pa., has returned to Gettysburg and will reside in the Mittinger residence, Oak Ridge.

Mr. Mittinger's return to Gettysburg followed recent conferences he had in Detroit and Akron with officials of the Lincoln Highway association, including F. A. Selberling, president of the L.H.A., who have expressed their concern over the future of the Lincoln Highway, "The Main Street of America," in Pennsylvania.

The former local hotel proprietor served as Pennsylvania Consul of the Lincoln Highway Association for many years and it was largely through his efforts that the transcontinental highway was promoted the most popular cross-continent motor route.

Will Have Headquarters Here

In returning to Gettysburg to reside Mr. Mittinger stated that he has been asked by Lincoln Highway Association officials to represent them in furthering the development and maintenance of the highway as an all-weather, all-year motor route.

Western Cities Interested

Directors of the L.H.A. in Detroit and Akron have expressed their concern over what has happened to Lincoln Highway west of Bedford through the construction of the Turnpike or "Dream Highway" across the state.

They felt, Mr. Mittinger explained, that the loss in property values through the divergence of traffic off the Lincoln Highway to the Turnpike was a matter of personal concern to them and that they hoped to prevent such an experience befalling property owners east of Bedford, who have through the years helped to maintain and build the Lincoln Highway.

While Mr. Mittinger will make his residence in Gettysburg and devote considerable of his time and efforts to the development of the Lincoln Highway he will retain his interests in the Lee-Hoffman enterprises at Crescent and at the Charles M. Schwab estate, at Loretto, Pa.

SPECIALISTS TO DISCUSS CHICK
PROBLEMS, AIDS

County Agent Arranges Series of Meetings

There are approximately 3,300 farms in Adams county that have a flock of chickens and the chicken population approaches the half-million mark. Each year thousands of chickens are reared to replace the old birds. With the best of management a certain number of birds die, but the mortality is far less where improved methods of management are practiced, County Agent Hartman stated today.

Good healthy chicks are essential as the ability of the bird to lay eggs depends upon the health and breeding qualities of the parent stock, he said.

A number of poultry meetings have been arranged by Mr. Hartman for the purpose of discussing management problems with C. O. Dossin, poultry extension specialist from State College, in charge of the discussions.

The following meetings have been arranged for anyone interested in poultry, and the women who so often have charge of the chickens are invited to attend the meeting:

- Wednesday, March 5
7:30 p. m.—G. Roscoe Worley, Hanover R. D.
- Thursday, March 6
10 a. m.—J. W. Weigle, Gardners.
1:30 p. m.—Roy Heckenluber, Biglerville.
7:30 p. m.—Guy Tanger, York Springs.
- Friday, March 7
10 a. m.—Court house, Gettysburg (second floor, rear).

LIONS VOTE GIFTS

Gettysburg Lions voted $15 to the Gettysburg Y.W.C.A. and $5 to the Adams County Fish and Game association at the weekly meeting Monday evening at Mrs. Smith's restaurant. President Henry T. Bream presided with about 35 members and guests present. Color motion pictures of the Canadian Rockies and Alaska were shown by a representative of the Canadian Pacific railroad.

Mehring 1st Democrat
To Seek Treasurership

Chester E. Mehring, York street, tossed his hat into the ring today with the announcement that again he will be a candidate for the democratic nomination for Adams county treasurer.

Mr. Mehring, who is a battlefield guide and former printer, sought the same office four years ago. He is the first member of his party to announce for the office. Three republicans have entered the contest to date.

Two Deputy County
Coroners Appointed

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coronor, has named Dr. H. M. Hartman, Gettysburg, a former county coronor, and Dr. A. B. Erlain, Cashtown, as deputy coroners. They will serve for one year during the absence of Dr. Edgar A. Miller, Gettysburg, former coronor, who has been serving as deputy under Doctor Crist.

Doctor Miller went to Indiantown Gap on Saturday to begin a year's active duty with the medical corps. Doctor Miller holds the rank of major.

Theme of Defense

Miller's defense centered about this statement: "I have been called in question this day because I have violated a resolution laid down by the school board of education, which resolution is a violation of the laws of Almighty God, of the constitution of Pennsylvania and of a violation of the constitutional Bill of Rights. The wrong in this matter is not in the flag . . . but in compelling or attempting to compel one against his conscience to violate God's specific commandment . . . that no form of worship or reverence shall be given to any creature or thing."

Men, women and children packed the school house. Some were members of the crowd to which Miller belongs and crowded about him after the hearing of offer congratulations and to assure him his defense was "great victory for Jehovah." Others were patrons of the school and the (Continued on page 8)

35 ATTEND LOCAL N.C.C.W. SESSION

The National Council of Catholic Women of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening in the social rooms of the church with the president, Mrs. George A. Miller, presiding with about 35 present. Routine business was transacted.

Then the secretary, Miss Ruth Hamilton, read the "Catholic Action Message" and Catherine Marsden gave a reading. William Costen and Norman Groft entertained with popular musical selections and Mrs. Stanley Paluskevics read a paper on the life of St. Jude and Mrs. Marie McGlaughlin sang "America."

Mrs. Paul Ramer spoke to the youth of the parish and urged them to attend a St. Jude youth study club to meet on Wednesday evening at the home of Anna Marie Riley, Biglerville road.

The president, Mrs. Miller, announced she will organize a new class for young married women next Tuesday evening at her home on Buford avenue and also asked all Catholics to listen to Baltimore radio stations for the Novena of Grace starting this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

After a brief talk by the assistant rector of St. Francis Xavier church, the Rev. Fr. Norbert Sulkowski, the meeting adjourned. The hostess, Mrs. George Groft, served coffee.

Barbara Zeigler, Betty Tetler, Luther Sachs, Jr., and Bobby Saylor entertained at a farewell party for Dorothy Rishell, who will move from Gettysburg, at the Saylor home on East Lincoln avenue Monday evening. Twenty-six classmates of Dorothy in the seventh grade at Lincoln school were present. The evening was spent in playing games. Dorothy was given a farewell gift. Refreshments were served.

College News

The Rev. Roy McCorkel, executive secretary of the Inter-seminary Movement which is under the control of the student division of the Y.M.C.A., spoke Monday evening in the Gettysburg college S.C.A. building auditorium on the topic, "The Place of Religion in Conflict."

The Rev. Mr. McCorkel spoke as a part of the annual college Student Christian association's "Religion in Life Week," which is being observed until March 9. The Rev. Mr. McCorkel also spoke at the morning chapel service Monday morning.

Four points were stressed by the speaker in his address, the first of which was that of asking ourselves, "What relation there is between religion and conflicts and situations?" Today is the day of reckoning," according to the speaker "for we have sinned grievously and Hitler is a personification of our methods. Hitler today is using our methods, the methods originally used by the Americas to achieve his aims, and we are angry because he is doing a more efficient job than we have done. The suppression and subjection of the Jews by the Germans is merely a personification of the suppression of the negro in our country. Our methods are more subtle, however, than those used by the Germans."

The remaining three points were expressed as three "R's," which, according to the speaker, are our chief hope for the future. They are: Relief, reconciliation and reconstruction.

This morning, in chapel, Dr. T. L. Cline presented the discussion groups which are to be held tonight and tomorrow night. Tonight, beginning at 8 o'clock five discussion groups will be held in the homes of various professors of the college. The discussions will be led by prominent men from Gettysburg and neighboring towns.

The topics for the groups will be "Religion and the Conflict Between Educational Theories," led by Dean Joseph Meredith; "Religion and the Conflict Between Economic Systems," led by the Rev. Ralph Tabor; "Religion and the Conflict Between Denominations," led by Dr. A. R. Wentz; "Religion and the Conflict Between Conscience and the State," led by Dr. H. D. Hoover, and "Religion and the Conflict Between Political Ideologies," led by Dr. Carl Rasmussen.

A new constitution was ratified recently by the Interfraternity council. The constitution makes the council to make decisions of provisions for an alumni advisory committee will be separate from the one of one alumnus from each of the national fraternities on the campus. This committee will work with the council, giving advice and helping the council to make decisions of importance which may appear. This committee will be separate from the alumni interfraternity council. The committee probably will be formed for the 1941-42 year.

The Alpha Tau Omega fraternity recently published an edition of their chapter newspaper, called "The Battlefield Guide," which has not been published for several years. John B. Zinn, Jr., of Gettysburg, was an assistant editor of the paper, and Robert Fortenbaugh, Jr., also of Gettysburg, was listed among the contributors to the paper. The publication was a four page account of news of alumni and active members of the fraternity.

President Henry W. A. Hanson traveled to New York State on Saturday, and plans to return on Thursday of this week. On Sunday morning, Doctor Hanson spoke at Rutgers university in Brunswick, New Jersey, while tonight he will deliver an address at the annual meeting of the New York Alumni association to be held at the Hotel McAlpin, in New York city.

Events at the college tonight include a frosh debating meeting at 7 o'clock, band practice at 8:30 o'clock, men's debate meeting at 8:30 and the college classical hour at 9 o'clock.

Plans are being made by the Interfraternity council to adopt a new interfraternity rating system which will aim to improve the system of previous years. The plan is now in its formative state, but will be announced in the near future.

PASTOR CALLED

At a special congregational meeting of the Big Spring Presbyterian church, Newville, on Sunday, the members voted to extend a call through the Carlisle Presbytery to the Rev. Paul Nicholson, a senior at the Princeton Theological Seminary to become the pastor. The pulpit at Big Spring church has been vacant since last fall when the Rev. William T. Swain, Jr., resigned to become executive secretary of the Presbyterian Home of Central Pennsylvania.

Local Photographers

Honored at Hagerstown

Four amateur photographers from Gettysburg and one from Fairfield won special honors with their entries in the tenth annual Cumberland Valley photographic exhibition which went on display Sunday afternoon at the Washington County Museum of Fine Arts at Hagerstown, Maryland.

Paul A. Kinsey, Gettysburg, won an honorable mention of his entry, "Fresh Tracks," while the other counties had some of their entries included among the display of select photos. The exhibitors included Joseph Kendeheart, C. Russell Gilbert, and Dr. C. Allen Sloat, all of Gettysburg, and Maurice S. Stoops, of Fairfield. They are members of the Gettysburg Photographic society.

From a total of 107 photographs entered by 23 photographers in the region incorporated in the boundaries imposed by the Hagerstown show, 39 photographs were selected for exhibition by the judges. The local men placed 12 photos—five by Kinsey, three by Kendeheart, two by Stoops and one each by Doctor Sloat and Russell Gilbert.

All of the original entries were transported to Baltimore where judged in the hall of the Baltimore Camera club by a jury composed of three men and a woman. That group made a selection of the prints to hang on the walls of the Hagerstown museum and of those to be starred as prize winners.

Photographers included in the Hagerstown display are from Hagerstown, Frederick and Cumberland, Maryland, and Chambersburg, Waynesboro, Greencastle, Gettysburg, Fairfield, and Winchester, Virginia.

HOICK SECOND TO HARRIS IN LEAGUE SCORING

Biglerville Player Converts Most Fouls — 25

Caleb (Bucky) Harris has annexed the scoring championship in the boys' division of the West Shore Scholastic Basketball league for the second consecutive year. The 16-year-old Camp Hill high school forward and captain, who will have a crack at the title again next season, compiled 151 points, thirty-six more than George Houck, of Biglerville, the runner-up.

Harris won easily despite the fact that he participated in only eleven games, as compared to twelve for the other contenders. As a result, he noticed by quite a large margin the best average per game, slightly more than 14½ points. He also made the most field goals, sixty-five, with Houck converting the most fouls, twenty-five. In winning the title last year, Harris in eleven games tallied 131 points.

The only other players in addition to Harris and Houck, who scored more than 100 points, were Ted Green of Lemoyne and Bob Myers of New Cumberland. They scored the most points in one game, Green with twenty-six and Myers with twenty-five.

Top honors in the girls' division were taken by Doris MacGregor, of Boiling Springs. Miss MacGregor, a senior, registered 105 points, forty-one more than she accounted for last season, when she finished in seventh place. Betty Warfel, Enola sophomore, was Miss MacGregor's only real competitor, copping second place with ninety-five points. The maximum number of league games played by any girls' team is eight.

In addition to winning the championship, Miss MacGregor made the most field goals, forty-six, and compiled the best point-average per game, nearly thirty. Most foul conversions, twenty-three, were made by Miss Warfel.

Miss Warfel also made the most points in one league game, twenty-six. Miss MacGregor tallied twenty-three in one game and twenty-two in another.

The scores in the boys' division are:

CONDUCTOR CAN'T RIDE WITH THE ENGINEER

Cincinnati (AP) — Groverman Blake, drama critic, says that Conductor Goossens of the City symphony has a clause in his contract forbidding him to ride in the locomotive cab when on tour.

Reason, says Blake, is that Goossens is such a railroad fan he forgets his music on trips.

LOOKING AROUND

Far from being disheartened at losing their final game of the season after having made a perfect record, the Gettysburg high cagers are now looking forward to the District 3 playoffs. This evening Marietta and Lititz clash for the championship of Lancaster county wheel and the winner of that game will meet the Forney-men in York Saturday evening. The second round game will be played Thursday, March 13, between the winner of the Central Pennsylvania - Berks county tilt and the South Penn - Lancaster county winner. The site for that game will be either Carlisle, Steelton or Lebanon, depending largely on the ultimate winners.

Tonight the Gettysburg college Bullets close their away schedule on the basketball court by meeting Bucknell at Lewisburg. Coach Bream's lads nosed out the Bisons here in a thrilling extra period affair and hope to repeat this evening. Following this game the Bullets will conclude their season by engaging Franklin and Marshall here Friday evening.

Two boys the Arendtsville vocational school cagers will have to watch in their game with Lemasters at Chambersburg Thursday evening are McFadden, center, and Overcash, forward. These lads have been bearing the brunt of the scoring all season for the Franklin county champions. McFadden is a six-foot three-inch lad and captured the individual scoring honors in the Franklin county circuit. Overcash also goes over six feet and is reported to be a crack shot.

Training Camp Briefs

[By the Associated Press]
Anaheim, Calif.—Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics rejoiced today at news that Wally Moses' injured shoulder is not dislocated. The fleet outfielder returned from a visit to a Los Angeles physician, who was unable to find any signs of a dislocation. "He told me to use my own judgment and start playing when the arm felt okay again," said Moses, who was hurt in an accident enroute to camp.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—"Old Pete" is the biggest show stealer in the St. Louis Cardinals' camp since Pepper Martin's mud cat band. "Old Pete" —so dubbed by the Cards because his control and tireless energy recall Grover Alexander—is banker Byron Moser's electrically-operated pitching machine. It will be a big factor in improving batting. Boss Sam Breadon believes, but the human hurler still has the edge —for batters have to watch the moundsman's arms for timing their swings."

Avalon, Calif.—Lou Novikoff, rookie outfielder who signed a Chicago Cub contract only Sunday, already is a regular. The eccentric slugger will play left field for the varsity in the first squad game Wednesday. Today will be his first real workout.

San Bernardino, Calif.—Arky Vaughan lost little time signing his contract when he finally conferred with President Bill Benswanger of the Pittsburgh Pirates. A ten-minute chat was all that was needed last night when Benswanger returned to camp after going home for his mother's funeral.

Havana—Young Pete Reiser is in a rather difficult spot as the choice for Brooklyn's centerfield position, but he seems to like it. He hit .545 during the three games with the Giants and says, "I feel pretty good out there. Of course, when you've played another position, everything is different, but I think I can make it."

Miami Beach, Fla.—Doc Prothro, the Phillies' manager, disclosed today that Frankie Frisch, Pittsburgh pilot, has been trying to trade outfielder Floyd Yount for one of the Phils' pitchers. "What does Frisch think I could do with Yount?" Prothro wondered.

Miami, Fla.—The New York Giants lost all their games in Havana, but they came out ahead on the trip to the extent of one coach. Adolfo Luque, who quit as a coach after the 1937 season, made up his differences with the club during the visit and signed again.

CENSOR UNCORKS A NEW ONE

Winchester, Va. (AP) — The steamer Birmingham City was headed westward in mid-Atlantic on Aug. 29, 1939, when Claude M. Henkel, Jr., penned a note to Miss Virginia C. Russell of Winchester, sealed it in a bottle and tossed it over the rail.

The letter was delivered on St. Valentine's Day, 1941, marked "opened by censor." It washed ashore at Lerwick, Shetland Islands, Jan. 4.

ROBERT NOLL IS WEST SHORE LOOP PRESIDENT

Biglerville Athletic Director Elected Monday

Robert C. Noll, athletic director of Biglerville high school for the last six years, was elected president of the West Shore Scholastic Basketball league for the 1941-42 season at a dinner-meeting of the league at the West Shore Restaurant in Lemoyne Monday night.

Mr. Noll, who was vice-president during the last campaign, succeeds Raymond Wert, athletic director of Lemoyne high, who filled the position for the last two seasons.

Other officers elected were S. P. Bomgardner, principal of New Cumberland high school, vice president, and Paul Stum, of Newville high, secretary-treasurer. The office of recording secretary, held for the last two years by Orville Snook of New Cumberland high, was abolished.

Presents Trophies
Before turning over the presidential duties to Mr. Noll, Mr. Wert presented trophies to the championship and runner-up teams in the boys' and girls' divisions. Fred Graham, coach of the Camp Hill team, accepted the trophy for Camp Hill high, winner of the championship in the boys' division, and Henry Gasull, Lemoyne, coach, received the runner-up trophy. The girls' championship trophy was accepted by Coach Chick Kennedy in behalf of Boiling Springs, and George Fry, Enola coach, was presented with the runner-up award.

In addition to Mr. Noll, Jack Yohe and Dale Smith attended the meeting as Biglerville representatives.

Boys' Club Divides 2 Games at Red Lion

The Gettysburg Boys' club basketball teams split two games with the Red Lion district present on the latter's floor Monday evening.

The Gettysburg varsity lost by a score of 41 to 31. The local Jayvees won, however, by a score of 29 to 12.

There were about 150 Boy Scouts from the Red Lion district present for the game. Most of them were in uniform. The local Boy Scout drum corps from troop 79 accompanied the team to Red Lion and played during the evening.

Following the game, the members of the basketball squads were shown through Warner's dairy in Red Lion and saw it in complete operation. Later refreshments were served and a program of entertainment was given in the dairy building.

Harrisburger Admits Strangling Bronx Woman

New York, March 4 (AP) — District Attorney Samuel J. Foley of the Bronx, announced today that George Joseph Cvek 23, of 740 Chambers street, Harrisburg, Pa., had admitted the strangulation slaying of Mrs. Catherine Pappas in her Bronx home last month.

Cvek was arrested soon after midnight and, during an all-night questioning, Foley said he also admitted assaulting women in Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., Newark, New Jersey, and other cities.

Foley said Cvek would be charged today with the murder of Mrs. Pappas.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, March 4 — With Bill Jurgas a big question mark, the Giants may try to get Frankie Crosetti from the Yanks, or Johnny Hudson from the Brooks. . . . Joe Louis' managers are censoring Billy Conn's future opponents—they don't want to risk losing Conn before June via a surprise setback. . . . Lou McKenna (who used to be a newspaper man and a good one) has been elevated from business manager to general manager of the St. Paul ball club. . . . Joe Kirkwood, the old trick shot artist, is at Nassau giving lessons to the Duchess of Windsor, no less. . . . Billy Soose and Ernie Vigh, who do an encore Friday night, are training in the same gym here.

The Words They Used

Governor James (In a statement concerning civil and personal rights of the people during the defense emergency).—"In the pressure of re-arming America, and in the stress of our national dangers, we must not lose sight of freedom itself."

I. A. Capizzi (Ford attorney in statement at Detroit that there is no basis for calling a strike).—"All of the men are satisfied and would continue so if they were left alone. Every move made by the union has been predicated on getting national publicity. That apparently is all they want."

Today's Talk By George Matthew Adams

VISION

THE Book of Proverbs, in the Bible, contains a wealth of inspiring words. A favorite of mine is that one where it says: "Where there is no vision, the people perish."

How very pungent is the truth of this statement throughout the world today. Without vision! Imagine for a moment what this world might be right now, had the leaders in all the nations of the earth had vision at the close of the terrible first World war. Had they then been tolerant, magnanimous, and cooperative toward a genuine and a lasting program of peace!

Washington, Jefferson, Franklin, Lincoln were men of great vision. And, in England today, there is Winston Churchill, who is a man of vision. He has always been a man of vision. Men of vision are above party and above entanglements of petty talk.

Carlos Martyn said of Wendell Phillips that he "was a citizen of the twentieth century sent as a sample to us of the nineteenth." Above all he was a man of vision. He saw far ahead. He identified himself with unpopular causes, most of which have triumphed since he left life's stage.

Vision is always accompanied with courage and a high sense of intellectual grandeur. There is a spirituality about it and a selflessness that is prophetic.

This Western World was discovered, colonized, and developed by men and women of great and tireless vision. Defeatists are devoid of all vision. It is alien to them. All sincere leaders have it. Men of vision always arise in times of dire distress. I look upon Wendell Willkie as a man of vision—great in temporary defeat.

Where there is vision in the minds and hearts of the people, no dictator can possible arise. History demonstrates the truth of the lack of vision. It is the study of history that gives to leadership in the world its vision, for where it has not been the people have perished.

Without vision no progress in any line of endeavor is possible. Vision is the lighted lamp of the soul!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "No!"

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Local Miscellany: We have been having cold weather for three days past, the thermometer indicating ten degrees above zero.

Last night snow fell to the depth of three inches.

Monday, March 2nd, was the one hundredth anniversary of the death of John Wesley, the founder of Methodism. Next Sabbath will be observed as Wesley Day in the Methodist church in this place.

The stores in Shippensburg close at 7 o'clock, while those in Carlisle and Chambersburg stop business at six o'clock. Why can't our merchants do likewise?

Marriages: Heiges - Witmer—Feb. 22, by Rev. J. W. Reese, Jacob B. Heiges, to Miss Sadie S. Witmer, all of Reading township.

Moore - Hare—March 3, in this place, by Rev. Jos. A. Boll, Harvey E. Moore to Miss Annie M. Hare, both of Fairfield.

Black - Routsong—Feb. 10, at Arendtsville, by Rev. D. T. Koser, Edward Black to Miss Maggie Routsong, both of Menallen township.

Crum - Malaun—Feb. 8, by Rev. C. L. Pfoutz, Charles E. Crum to Miss Ida E. Malaun, both of Franklin township.

Partnership Dissolved: Gilbert and Smith have dissolved partnership, Mr. Gilbert retaining the foundry and Mr. Smith taking the planning mill. Mr. George Stall-smith has leased the latter for one year.

Dr. Billheimer's Lecture: Although the night was disagreeable, a crowded house greeted Dr. Billheimer to hear his lecture on "Egypt and Her Great Pharaoh." For nearly two hours he held the strict attention of his audience with stereotyped views of the ruins of ancient Egypt, and delightful description of them.

Messrs. William and George E. Spangler, grocers, of this place, have dissolved partnership, Major H. S. Benner buying the interest of Mr. George D. Spangler.

Co. C. of Cole's Cavalry: The third annual reunion of Company C. of Cole's Cavalry was held in Corporal Skelly Post Room on Friday night. A business meeting was held at which the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Lieut. Wm. A. McIlhenny; Vice President, Silas M. Horner; Secretary, Lieut. O. D. McMillan, and Treasurer, J. E. Wible.

The banquet, gotten up in excellent manner by the lady friends of the company followed. Speeches were made by Theodore C. McAllist-Silas M. Horner, Josephus Mills and er, O. D. McMillan, C. B. Shields, T. J. Stahlie.

Sales: Mr. John Zielinger, of David City, Nebraska, has disposed of all his real estate, near Blue Ridge Summit, to Mr. Wash. Rodgers, of Fairfield.

Mr. Warren Hafer has sold the house now occupied by David McCaughy, Esq., to J. A. Tawney for $5,500, possession to be given in April, 1892.

Personal Mention: Miss Helen Winebrenner, of Hanover, was up to the concert on Friday night.

Miss Harriet Fahnestock, of Watertown, South Dakota, and formerly of this place, is the guest of Miss Margaret McClean.

Mr. Charles E. Stahlie was admitted to the Bar on Monday. He will occupy the offices recently vacated by William Arch McClean.

A Phonograph Coming to Gettysburg: The people of this place are to be treated to a scientific entertainment. Mr. Lyman H. Howe, of the Edison phonograph company, has been engaged by the members of the College Y. M. C. A. to give a phonographic exhibition concert in Brua Memorial Chapel on Saturday evening, March 7th. Mr. Howe will come equipped with Edison's latest phonograph. The new phonograph is capable of entertaining a very large audience at one time.

An important feature of the evening's program will be a public demonstration of how a band record is taken. The G. A. Band will be present and play a selection before the audience and immediately after the Phonograph will reproduce it, with the applause of the audience.

Reserved seats, 35 cents, to be had at Buehler's Drug Store.

A Splendid Concert: The annual concert given by the Glee and Banjo Club of Dickinson College in the Opera House on Monday night was a rare treat. The Glee Club, under Prof. Dutton, rendered their glee and college songs in fine style. The Banjo Club is one of the best in the country.—Danville Sun. Mules Lincoln Valued Their Usefulness to the Army

(From the Wall Street Journal) One day, in the midst of the War Between the States, a messenger arrived in great haste at the White House, rushed in upon President Lincoln and excitedly informed him that a large wagon train had been surprised a short distance across the Potomac, and a brigadier general taken prisoner.

"Did they capture the train?" inquired Mr. Lincoln.

"No sir," gasped the messenger, "but the general, Mr. Lincoln, is a prisoner."

"Oh, don't let that bother you," said Mr. Lincoln. "It was the mules I was anxious about. I can make a dozen generals in a day, but mules cost $300 apiece."

DEBATE ON 1776 ENTERS 3D WEEK IN THE SENATE

Keynote of Debate Is Whether the Bill Means War

[By the Associated Press] Washington, March 4 — Senator Wagner (D-NY) appealed today for enactment of the British aid bill because he declared an axis triumph would imperil the western hemisphere and the United States. "If the axis powers win abroad," he said, "they will have won a partial victory over us as well, because imperative military necessities would make such a vast drain upon our resources and manpower as to undermine our economy, our standard of life, and possibly our form of government."

Meanwhile, administration strategists, striving to hasten final action, were reported seriously considering an amendment "guarantee" that American armed forces would not be employed in any delivery of war materials to Britain.

This amendment, offered by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), apparently was designed to remove one source of time-consuming debate by satisfying the demands of those who believe the bill should carry a prohibition against the use of naval vessels or American troops to carry out the lease-lend program.

O'Mahoney, it was learned, has talked with Secretary Hull, Vice President Wallace and members of the senate leadership regarding his amendment, which would provide that defense articles "shall not be delivered outside the western hemisphere by the land or naval forces of the United States without the consent of congress."

This proposal generally was regarded as a compromise for the amendment offered by Senator Elender (D-La), which states that nothing in the lease-lend bill can be interpreted as giving the President any additional authority to send troops out of this hemisphere.

It was reported authoritatively that Hull had evinced interest in the O'Mahoney provision and that neither he nor other administration leaders had expressed disapproval.

Senator Walsh keynoted a lengthy attack on the lease-lend program with the announcement: "I look upon this bill as equivalent to a declaration of war."

"Once in war," he said, "there can be no turning back. The congress will have no choice, the people will have no choice. Such a war will not be America's war. It will be a world war in which we will join in world ruin."

This war view was contradicted by two supporters of the bill, Senators Smathers (D-N.J.) and Tunnell (D-Del.).

Smathers said he was tired of "this parrot-like prattle" that war would follow. The opposition, he remarked, had used that argument a year ago when the arms embargo was lifted, and again when the selective service act was being discussed. The purpose, he charged, was "to frighten the American people, but it is not succeeding."

Tunnell declared, "I am one of those who believes that this bill will not cause war." Should war come, however, "it will be easier," he predicted, "for America to defeat a weakened Germany." The reich, he said, would be weakened by the strong British defense which the bill would make possible.

Turnpike Philadelphia Fears Eastern Terminus May Be Lost

(Philadelphia Inquirer)

It is natural enough for a House member from Northampton county to want the proposed eastern extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike to be carried to Easton. But his bill offered at Harrisburg to that effect does not deserve serious consideration. Any city in the State might like to see super-highway passing by its door, but you can't plot the proper route for a road on community pride.

The logical eastern terminus of the turnpike is Philadelphia. There are so many reasons why the road should be brought here that argument should be superfluous. The desirability of linking the vital center of defense industry and ship-building with the western steel region, and the fact that traffic emanating from the Philadelphia area would contribute mightily to the upkeep of the toll road, are two obvious points.

Once the super-highway is built to Philadelphia, the matter of routes stemming from it, in the direction of Easton or other parts of the state, may profitably be considered.

'Round About Town

Direct relief payments to needy Adams countians during the week ended Monday show an increase of $31 over those of the previous week, according to State Treasurer F. Clair Ross. Payments for the week amounted to $927 which was $1,215 lower than those for the comparable week of last year. Current payments required 152 fewer checks than those of a year ago.

At the same time Treasurer Ross announced payments of $16,233 covering old age assistance, pensions for the blind and aid to dependent children, during February.

Hospital Report

Mrs. Clarence Steinour, Mummasburg street; Mrs. Galen Brindle, Seven Stars; Mrs. John Sharrah, Cashtown, and Mrs. Edgar Lobkowitz, Burnham, Pa., were admitted to the Warner hospital.

Menallen Is Only Remaining Active Friends Meeting House in County; Origin in 1750s

An interesting account of Menallen Meeting is given in Dr. Myers' book "The Immigration of the Irish Quakers into Pennsylvania, 1682-1750" which is quoted in full as follows:

First Location "The first location of Menallen Meeting was about seven miles west of Huntington, on the east side of Opossum Creek, in Menallen, now Butler, Township, Adams County. 6 Mo. 4, 1746, Sadsbury Monthly Meeting 'tolerates the Friends of Monalin to have Meetings of Worship to be kept on first Day and Fifth Day until Further Orders.' 2 Mo. 16, 1748, 'friends of Minallen requests to have their meeting settled,' and later in the year the meeting was regularly established. The Meeting land, consisting of 20 acres and 153 perches, was not granted until May 26, 1788. It is not known when the first edifice was built, but Nicholas Scull's map of the State shows that one had been erected as early as 1758."

"In 1838, the original site was abandoned"; the old log meeting-house was taken down, removed about three miles to the north-west, and rebuilt in a more convenient place, near Flora Dale, about one mile south of what is now Bendersville. In 1884, the old log house gave way to the present brick building, erected to the rear of the former one on a plot of 84 perches, purchased in 1871. The Meeting is still well attended, and with the exception of Fawn Meeting, in the south-east corner of York County, is the only surviving meeting of the original York County [which included present Adams County].

An Irish Meeting "In its early years Menallen Meeting was distinctively an Irish meeting, the majority of its members being from Ireland. Among them were John Blackburn, Judge of the York County Court in 1764, County Treasurer in 1759 and 1766, and member of Assembly, Daniel Winter, William Delap, Joseph Hewitt and son George, from Ballyhagan Meeting, County Armagh; John Wright, from Castleshane, County Monaghan; John Morton, from New Gardan, Chester County; Thomas Nev-

FORD HAS 154 MILLION $ IN DEFENSE ORDERS

Dept. of Labor Seeks to Prevent Strike of 95,000 Men

[By the Associated Press] The state of Michigan and the Federal Department of Labor strove independently today to head off strikes at three Ford Motor plants in the Detroit area.

Governor Van Wagoner named a special commission to try to conciliate the disputes, although the state mediation board ruled at about the same hour yesterday that the strikes could not become effective for 30 days after the call.

Federal conciliators went to work last week after the C.I.O.-United Automobile Workers voted the strikes. Union spokesmen expressed dissatisfaction with what they called the company's unfair labor tactics. A Ford attorney denied the union charges.

The fact that Ford has $154,000,000 in national defense orders and employs about 95,000 men at the Rouge, Highland Park and Lincoln plants was taken into consideration by the mediation board in ruling that the full 30-day "cooling off" period should elapse because of the public's interest in the dispute.

Actual walkouts as well as threatened strikes clouded the outlook elsewhere for defense preparations.

The North Carolina Department of Labor estimated that 4,000 to 6,000 men struck yesterday at a $15,000,000 Army anti-aircraft firing range under construction near Hollyridge in that state.

A C.I.O. strike at the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, Milwaukee, rounded out its sixth week in spite of an endeavor by the office of production management to get production resumed on $45,000,000 worth of Army and Navy contracts.

Other strikes in progress included walkout at four International Harvester company plants in Illinois and Indiana, three of which have defense orders; the S. S. White Dental Manufacturing company, New York, and the Burke Machine Tool company, Conneaut, Ohio.

Manufacture of cooking and other edible fats and oils is $200,000,000 annual industry in the U. S., according to the census bureau. More than 1,400,000,000 pounds of edible vegetable and compound shortenings are made. Of this, $65,000,000 pounds are from vegetable oils and nearly 200,000 pounds from animal fats.

From Nearby Counties

Hagerstown has joined the ranks of high schools opening new courses in mechanical arts to aid in the national defense program. The new subjects include aircraft engineering, design, drafting, mathematics, tool design and inspection.

A York newspaper is continuing its "pictorial news" campaign against increased cost of housing. This week the newspaper published another layout of pictures illustrating "Alley" houses and garages which have been renovated to care for the increased demand for houses brought about by the increase in employment in York industrial plants. Some of the renovated garages are being rented for from three to four dollars weekly.

Waynesboro residents have contributed $641.22 to the American Bureau for Medical Aid to China, Inc. The Waynesboro committee was headed by Dr. J. W. Croft and the money was received from various organizations and individuals in that community. Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., chairman of the national organization, has acknowledged receipt of the contribution in a personal letter to Doctor Croft. The money is used for ambulances, surgical instruments and medical supplies.

More than 300 persons heard Jim Thorpe, famous Indian athlete, tell his life story at a testimonial dinner tendered the former Carlisle Indian school athlete in Carlisle last week. Thorpe related the story of his life beginning with his birth in a log cabin on an Indian reservation and his rise to fame and his eventual reception in the throne room of Sweden's Imperial palace.

Army officers of Carlisle Barracks are making preparation for the expansion of its faculty and the Provisional Medical Battalion following announcement that training classes will gradually be increased to conform with the national emergency defense program. The Battalion will be increased from 240 to 434 men.

Dickinson college debaters lost to Penn State in a recent debate. Penn State opposed "the union of the United States of America and the British Commonwealth of Nations" question. J. Harvey Heavy, of Carlisle, assistant postmaster for the past 26 years, has become postmaster for the duration of the military emergency. He succeeds Major Allen J. Stevens who has been called to Army duty.

Waynesboro is striving to find housing accommodations for approximately 175 musicians, selected from 52 Pennsylvania high school bands, who will comprise the huge band to present two concerts in that community on March 8.

BROWN RESIGNS AS SECRETARY OF COMMERCE

Disagrees With Governor Over Placing of State Ads

[By the Associated Press] Harrisburg, March 4—The resignation of Richard P. Brown, Pennsylvania's first Secretary of Commerce, marked the first voluntary retirement from Governor James' cabinet today.

Brown, secretary since the governor created the department in 1939, resigned after a disagreement with Governor James over the advertising agency to be awarded the Commerce department's business for the 1941 campaign to "sell" Pennsylvania's advantages to industry and tourists.

James said he had not considered a successor but mentioned prominently for the $10,000 a year post is Mark S. James—not related to the Governor—Pittsburgh industrial engineer who had been Brown's deputy for more than a year. James took over supervision of the department temporarily today.

In his letter of resignation yesterday, made public by the governor, Brown said that a "fundamental difference of opinion has arisen regarding the policy which the department should pursue."

"I feel therefore," he said, "in the interest of harmony in the administration, that it is best for me to resign."

Brown, a Philadelphia manufacturer of precision instruments, had said last week he would resign if the governor insisted on transferring the contracts from the agency which held them to another proposed by the state's chief executive.

James, in reply to the secretary's resignation, said he "fully appreciated" Brown's services but added that the responsibility for "proper operation" of the department, "in the last analysis rests upon my shoulders."

"You cite," the governor wrote, "as a fundamental difference of policy a detail with the performance of which you were in full accord just a year or so ago."

"Your attitude appears to me to be completely unwarranted."

Last year the State department placed $200,000 worth of business. The house deferred temporarily a final vote on the bill to set up a state council of defense with local units to coordinate Pennsylvania's preparedness program. Rep. Ellwood J. Turner (R-De) asked permission to insert an amendment to increase the state council membership from 11 to 15 but the democratic leadership said the change would be voted down.

The house committee on agriculture announced it would continue its investigation into soil conservation with a series of public hearings each Monday until a final report is compiled. The house majority is holding up appropriations to the Pennsylvania state college and the soil conservation board until the inquiry is completed.

Included in new bills introduced in the house were measures to set up emergency day and night classes for training of students in the aviation industry and require anthracite workings to have a water spraying system for relief of dust conditions.

The defense council bill comes to a vote in the house tonight, and then must be approved by the senate. The council, consisting of the governor and the four other elected members of the official family — lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs, state treasurer and auditor general — would co-ordinate the state defense effort with that of the federal government.

"We have heard much of the phrase 'social gains'; but the greatest social gain achieved by mankind in the last two thousand years is personal liberty," said Governor James in announcing he would set up a new group to safeguard civil rights.

"In the pressure of rearming America, and in the stress of our national dangers, we must not

CONSERVATION HEARING WILL BE CONTINUED

Legislators Seeking Data on Soil Affairs

[By the Associated Press]
Harrisburg, March 4 (AP)—A house committee announced today it would continue its inquiry into the state's role in soil conservation with a series of public hearings each Monday until sufficient data is obtained to report to the house.

The step was taken following a hearing yesterday in which York and Lancaster county farmers criticized Secretary of Agriculture John N. Light and the Pennsylvania State college extension officials.

Declaring that soil conservation measures to arrest erosion were necessary, the county leaders described the state as appearing "hostile" to the federal program which sets up and aids soil conservation districts.

"I don't think there is any doubt but what we can show you a need for soil conservation practices in Lancaster county," Hartwell E. Roper of Kirkwood, Lancaster county, told the three-man committee headed by Rep. Clayton E. Moul (D-York).

Moul later obtained house approval to recommit his bill to amend the soil erosion act which would change the personnel of the present state soil conservation board and provide for state payment of incidental expenses in the districts.

"To the best of my knowledge there has been no help coming to the districts from the state board," Roper declared. "It takes no interest in us."

He declared the soil conservation districts "must stand on their own feet" financially and added that in Lancaster county officials felt that all the financial aid needed from the state was that sufficient to cover mileage and office expenses.

W. F. Dummer, York county, told of the State Secretary of Agriculture visiting the scene of the York program and quoted him as saying he would "view it with an open mind."

"His mind was so open that everything we told him went in one ear and out of the other," Dummer remarked. "He seemed very prejudiced for one reason or another. His attitude was hostile."

Dummer later identified the secretary as Light, who also is chairman of the state soil conservation board.

ALONG CAME CINDERELLA

By VIVIEN GREY

YESTERDAY: Lovely Daye has been trying to make up for a childhood in which she was denied everything by living twice too fast, now that she is the wife of wealthy Roger Cosgrave. But one day her career broke an invaluable Ming vase belonging to Roger's mother, and it brought Lovely to her senses. Now she has asked Roger to meet her for a special tea, and a surprise.

as she did everything else. And she drove too fast, as she did everything else.

Rodger would get home to find the house dark. He'd hear the screech of tires on a curve. Wheels grinding gravel. Then Lovely would burst upon him in a wild flurry of fine scents and fine clothes and gay exclamations. And with an unfinished piece of knitting trailing along somewhere.

"All the way from New York to my own door in sixty minutes! Yes, in an hour celebrate! From Gert's. And oh, precious, I haven't got a cent left. Not a cent! It was Sunny's birthday."

Rodger kissed between the words. "You've been drinking," he accused. "In daytime. And on the road alone."

"Only three cocktails. After all, it was Sunny's birthday. And darling! Oh, my darling," her voice rising to a high ecstatic note with some glorious thing she was about to impart, "we're going to have birthdays of our own to celebrate! Oh, Roger, my blessed, we are! We are!"

"Lovely," suddenly tense, "what are you talking about?"

"Don't you know? Can't you guess?" She danced around the table the maid had set, opening a box of roses, putting them in a low bowl in the center.

"Oh, Lovely," Roger knew with a certainty what she meant. His heart was in his voice.

"And I'll weep if it isn't a boy just like you!"

Lovely's elation made right everything that had been even faintly wrong. It put to rest all of Marcia's fears for the future of her son's married life. Any girl who could be so thoroughly happy at the prospect of her first baby must be fundamentally right.

Lovely went on with her life as if nothing was about to happen. She was photogenic. She was a natural for photographers. Lovely at the horse show. At the dog show. Lovely at the field trials. Lovely on the golf links. Lovely as the smart hostess for a smart party.

"Don't you think you'd better ease up?" Roger asked.

"Why?" the question came brightly.

"Because I am looking forward to a son or daughter, darling, a well, healthy, whole one."

"I'll give you that, lambie pie."

"Lovely, darling, if you'd only begin to think with that gadget you use for a brain."

"Then our trouble would begin!" was her reply.

And Aunt Amalia watched her one day as she romped in the pool, and asked Roger:

"Well, my boy, how do you like the merry-go-round you're living on?"

Rodger smiled gently at Amalia's tartness.

"Lovely's got her points. Aunt Amalia," he said. "She's good, as kind and sweet in her intentions as can be. You'll see that after while."

Amalia sniffed.

"Oh, yes, even the worst women have their good points."

But the time came when Lovely had to slow up. She did it gracefully, even prettily. And Roger watched over her like a mother cat over its first and only kitten.

Meantime Emily, grown a little more lovely as time emphasized her wistfulness, came week ends at the urgent plea of the whole family and sat quietly in a big chair knitting gay little garments.

Marcia said to her husband: "If only she wouldn't. Something about it gives me the creeps. It's almost as if it was to be her child."

And Cosgrave, man-like, said: "I think it's very fine and generous of Emily."

"Of course it is," Marcia's reply came quickly. "But you don't see what I mean at all. It's—it's weird."

Lovely had settled down to a very quiet life and an only partially patient waiting when Aunt Amalia gave one of her impressive and beautiful family dinners as an outward sign of her complete acceptance of Roger's wife. Lovely was gracious and glamorous and beautiful Roger was proud of her.

Lovely even went to the hospital with a gay gesture, and in a few hours was smiling up at Roger and speaking in a voice that was only a little less lush and full-toned and beautiful than usual.

"Hi—yah, papa! Go say good morning through the glass to Roger!"

"Lovely!" he exclaimed as he kissed her eagerly, "you're not going to call her Roger?"

"I'm telling you, darling!"

And Ring down in New York looked at the wire girl showed him telling of Rogette's arrival and said: "Another crazy name! It sure is in the blood!"

Rodger took Emily to the hospital to see his family, and the last day, as a special privilege, Emily was allowed to hold the baby a moment. She stood just beside Roger. They looked so right together with Emily holding the baby. As always with Lovely the thought became vocal.

"You look as if you belong together."

"I hope we always will, all four of us," Roger said quickly. He had not been aware of a misty quality about Emily that somehow was like unshed tears. He sensed it suddenly and knew why she did not speak.

Smooth Sailing

Lovely and Rogette came home with a fanfare of flowers and gifts and good wishes and calls and telegrams and telephone messages.

"You know," Lovely said in one of her rare quiet moments in the nursery with Roger and the child, "there hasn't been a word from Joe. I thought he'd be the first one to wish me happiness with Rogette and want to see her."

"Perhaps he doesn't know," Roger suggested.

"Perhaps he's deaf, dumb and blind! Doesn't know when all the New York papers have printed reams about us and came within an ace of naming my baby Cinderella whether I wanted it or not?"

Lovely always got to the kernel of truth in a situation.

"I know what it is," she said after a little silence. "Mar! ruined him. He's probably slinking away ashamed somewhere. I'm going down to see his mother and make him snap out of it."

And she did go. But Mrs. Hulse, who cleaned offices at night and by day did fine washing for the feminine guests in a nearby hotel, could tell her nothing about Joe. He had disappeared.

"Not getting you's what did it," Mrs. Hulse said, but without bitterness. Her life had gone beyond bitterness. "He should have stayed with his own kind."

Lovely was touched, and oddly frightened. Joe didn't belong. But then neither did she. She had not stayed with her own kind. That night she seemed to want to clear up safely to the heart of her family.

"If anything should happen to you," she said, "I'd want to die."

"Nothing can, unless we let it," was Roger's reply.

Lovely was charmed and fascinated by Getta as the baby was called. She was a sweet and beautiful miracle for the world to whom life had suddenly turned such a kind and generous face. Lovely was, in many ways a surprisingly good mother. Her new position seemed to bring to life within her even greater tenderness for helpless creatures. Respect and love for her grew like a well rooted tree in the Cosgrave family.

It was Getta's first Thanksgiving that Aunt Amalia claimed had lost her heart to the child.

"I want her Thanksgivings,"

Amalia said. "Surely you can grant me that much."

And so it was to be a big family dinner at Amalia's that first Thanksgiving of little Getta's life. A strangely assorted family. Marcia and Kar, Roger, the two women who loved him and the daughter one had given him.

And it was that Thanksgiving Katie chose for her wedding to Bill Stark.

New Books

By John Selby

"SUMMER 1914," by Roger Martin du Gard; (Viking; $3.50).

WHEN, a few years ago, the Nobel prize in literature was awarded Roger Martin du Gard for the then uncompleted novel he had been working at since 1922, the presentation was made for "the artistic power with which he has portrayed human conflicts and the foundations of human life in his series of novels, 'Les Thibaults.'"

Awards are not often made so justly, and their reason is not often made so clear.

In French, M. du Gard's "The World of the Thibaults" has appeared in 11 volumes, not so many as Romain's "Men of Good Will" but certainly they add up to quite as effective and useful a work.

In addition M. du Gard has avoided the chief fault of the Romain series, which is its apparent lack of integration. He never leaves the Thibaults, and one may open either of the two volumes of the English translation at any point and within a very short time feel at home, and sense the plan of the whole gigantic novel. Du Gard is never vague and rarely sententious. He is French to the core, yet his people have a remarkable kinship to the people of any other country.

The first book (in English, of course) was called "The Thibaults," and in it we met Oscar, Jacques and Antoine Thibault, their friends and their world. These M. du Gard carries forward through time, from youth and into, young manhood, evenly and without distortion. In life it is often difficult to sort out and make explicit the stages by which a boy changes into a man; it is the same in du Gard's novel. The process is completely natural, unforced, almost without literary artifice.

What we find in "Summer 1914" is that actually Jacques Thibault does not grow up. As a man he never catches up with his mind, and his mind never quite reaches clarity. He retains his charm; he has an affair with Jenny; he has a child by Jenny; he calls himself a socialist and works with the Swiss group, and finally dies because of a silly idea. His cooler and shrewder brother Antoine arrives at death also, but by a different path. There is no space to trace the path here; one can only say that in this enormous book an author finally has managed to embody in prose the tragedy upon which life is founded.

Marian Martin Pattern

MARIAN MARTIN

A FROCK, SUNSUIT AND BONNET PATTERN 9648

Your little girl will store up precious energy for cold winter months if she romps all summer in this sunny-day outfit. It's Pattern 9648 and a Marian Martin style, which guarantees its easy making. Three pieces are included in the one pattern. You'll start off with the rompers that have an H-shaped arrangement in the back to keep the front-buttoning straps up. Then you'll make the gay little frock that fastens all down the front and has easy, all-around waist darts. Use puffed, tucked sleeves or tiny, cool caps. Finally, stitch up the eye-shading bonnet. Add ric-rac trim, and match or mix the three pieces.

Pattern 9648 may be ordered only in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6, dress and bonnet, requires 2½ yards 35 inch fabric and 2½ yards ric-rac; playsuit and bonnet, 1½ yards 35 inch fabric and 1½ yards ric-rac.

Send fifteen cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address and style number.

Success to your Spring Sewing with the Marian Martin Pattern Book, just out! The only printed collection of the famous designs featured daily in this paper. All the clothes you need are shown in lovely colors, available in simple patterns. Enchanting frocks for home, street, afternoon and evening. Gay sportswear. Vivacious "small-fry" outfits. Officers to Question Pair Held in Pittsburgh

Chief of Police Glenn Guise, Borough Officer Charles W. Culp, Corporal Albert Davis, of the Chambersburg detail of the state motor police, and Private Arthur R. Gore, of the Gettysburg detail left this morning at 8 o'clock for Pittsburgh to question and take statements from two men being held there in a series of Pennsylvania robberies.

The men, James Grierson and Frank Kacin, both of Centre, Allegheny county, have admitted to Allegheny county authorities that they shot and beat Officer Culp last September when they were surprised in early morning robberies here.

Chief Guise will carry to Pittsburgh warrants charging the pair with the attempted murder of Officer Culp. The papers will be lodged there as detainers against Grierson and Kacin.

RAILROAD AFFAIR

West Brownsville, Pa., March 4 (AP)—An automobile skidded on an icy highway and crashed into a house in this Washington county community Sunday. State police, after investigating, wrote up their report like this: A car owned by a Pennsylvania railroad engineer and driven by his son, a switchman for the Monongahela railroad, crashed into a house occupied by a trackman of the Pennsylvania railroad. The house was owned by the Pennsylvania railroad. The car was wrecked but its five occupants escaped injury.

Music and Speech Contests Are Planned

The fourteenth annual interschool music and speech competitions for high schools of southern Pennsylvania will begin in March in 11 of the counties, preparatory to the inter-county meet at Mechanicsburg on April 5, according to announcement from the University of Pittsburgh extension division.

Schools from Adams, Cumberland, Dauphin, Franklin, Juniata, Lancaster, Lebanon, Perry, and York counties will participate.

Prof. C. P. Keefer, New Oxford principal, is supervising the county competition. He said today the contests probably would be held during the last week of this month.

The county chairmen will direct competitions in seven speech and 50 music events, to produce county winners who qualify for the southern district contests at Mechanicsburg.

The current state-wide season closes at New Castle on April 18 and 19, when the annual state eliminations will be held.

TRAIN KILLS REPAIRMAN

Indiana, Pa., March 4 (AP)—Coroner Edward L. Fleming said a man found dead on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks here Saturday has been identified as Thomas M. George, 72, an umbrella repairer from Punxsutawney. Fleming said the man had been killed apparently in alighting from a train.

HUNTER IS FLOP, SO DEER DEMONSTRATES

Kerrville, Tex., (AP)—Dick Smith went through 45 days of the hunting season, killed no deer and spent $15.75 for wasted ammunition.

After the season closed, he was driving toward Kerrville when a buck leaped a fence and landed against the side of his truck, breaking its neck and causing $15 damage to the vehicle. Smith couldn't even use the meat, since under the law it had to be turned over to the nearest game warden.

Attorney's Son Dies Of Gunshot Wound

Upper Darby, Pa., March 4 (AP)—Ralph Kleeman, 26-year-old son of a Wilkes-Barre attorney, was found dead of a gunshot wound early today in the basement of his uncle's home, where he had been visiting.

Detective Herbert Fleming quoted the uncle, Morris Brinkley, as saying he found the body after being awakened by a shot. Young Kleeman had been struck in the abdomen by a charge from a 12-gauge shot gun.

Brinkley added, the detective said, that Kleeman recently had been ill and low in spirits.

Kleeman was a son of Arthur O. Kleeman.

There were 35,880 major crimes in New York state in 1940 compared with 38,768 the year before.

Co-operative's Maryland Permit Is "Approved"

By resolution on Monday evening, the Frederick county roads board approved the granting of a permit to the Adams Electric Co-operative, Inc., of Gettysburg, to string wires along and over Frederick county roads, "provided this board has the authority to grant such permission."

The board recommended further legal search be made to determine the question of what body has jurisdiction to pass on the application of the Co-operative which has asked approval to enable it to present an application to the Maryland Public Service commission for extension of its lines into Frederick and Carroll counties.

The Co-operative claims 350 potential users in the northeastern section of Frederick county and the northwestern part of Carroll county. Application for local permits from the Frederick county authorities have been pending for several months. Co-operative leaders have alleged deliberate delay in the matter pointing out that utility companies are expanding their lines in the territory in question while the roads board debates its right to act in the matter.

News reports from Frederick today said that Monday night's action amounted to affirmative action on the application when it is established the board has authority to take such a step.

The board recently sought an opinion in the case from Maryland's attorney-general who returned the problem to local authorities without committing himself.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exclusively prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy. It helps keep the skin soft and pliable. It thus avoids unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin. For the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

Mother's Friend

Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin lubricant. Try it tonight.

Pittsburgh Dean to Head Mercersburg

DR. C. S. TIPPETTS

Mercersburg, Pa., Mar. 4—Election of Dr. Charles S. Tippetts, dean of school of business administration, University of Pittsburgh, as head master of the Mercersburg academy, and successor to Dr. Boyd Edwards, was announced Monday. Selection was made by the Academy's board of regents in a special meeting held Saturday in Philadelphia when the governing body acted on the recommendation of the committee appointed last June to secure a successor to Doctor Edwards. Doctor Tippetts is a graduate of Mercersburg and of Princeton university.

Doctor Edwards' request to retire July 1, 1941, was in accordance with the customary retirement age of 65, which he will reach in May, and which prevails for all members of the academy staff since the adoption of the retirement pension plan under the present administration. Doctor Edwards, who has been head of Mercersburg since 1928, succeeded Dr. William Mann Irvine, founder of Mercersburg as a preparatory school for boys.

FIRST GOLFER DRAFTED

Coral Gables, Fla., March 4 (AP)—A draft board summons pulled Ed Oliver out of the international four ball golf tournament today but his partner, Clayton Heafner of Linville, N. C., probably will be permitted to choose a substitute teammate. Oliver caught a midnight plane for Wilmington, Del., to report to selective service officials who declared that he had to be there today. Oliver is the first "name" golfer to be called for military training.

HOTEL OWNER SUCCUMBS

Bradford, Pa., March 4 (AP)—Grace E. Emery, who built and operated the Emery hotel here, died of pneumonia in New York last night. An oil operator in her own right, she was the daughter of Lewis Emery, one-time champion of the senate and state assembly.

R-a-d-i-o Programs

[By the Associated Press]

New York, March 4—America's town meeting, still traveling along the Pacific coast in its first coast to coast tour, will consider subjects related to that area in its next two stops.

This week the Thursday night NBC-blue series will halt at San Francisco to debate the question: "Is War with Japan Inevitable?" Differing viewpoints will come from Chester H. Rowell, former editor of the San Francisco Chronicle; Tully C. Knoles, president of the College of the Pacific, and Maj. Gen. David P. Barrows.

Next week Seattle is the broadcast point. There the topic is: "Shall We Guarantee Peace in the Pacific?" After that the program will turn eastward.

First stop last week at Los Angeles was concerned with a discussion of the movies and defense.

Thousands of Catholics in Baltimore today began the annual Novena to St. Francis Xavier, better known as the Novena of Grace, in churches scattered throughout the city. In St. Ignatius church, Calvert and Madison streets, where the devotions were started by the late Rev. F. X. Brady, S. J., the services will be practically continuous from early morning until 8:45 p. m. daily. An afternoon service will be broadcast over station WFBR at 2:30 o'clock from the church for the ill and aged. The Novena will continue for nine days.

Legionnaires Willing to Serve in Place of Guard

Approximately one in every 10 Legionnaires who have registered in the Legion's National Defense program have indicated their willingness to serve in the place of the National Guard in this community in answer to one of the many questions on the Legion questionnaire, LeRoy H. Winebrenner disclosed today.

Mr. Winebrenner is in charge of the registration of ex-service men which began here two weeks ago. Approximately 100 have registered and others are being listed daily. A number is expected to fill out the questionnaires at the meeting of the Albert J. Lentz post No. 202 on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Winebrenner heads the defense organization of the Lentz post and is selecting aides to complete the organization that will be ready to serve in event of emergency.

HAMILTON TWP. BOARD TO STUDY MILLER'S STAND

Teacher Given Hearing for Refusal to Salute Flag

largest group was made up of members of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and other fraternal and patriotic organizations who have taken a keen interest in the case during the last few months. Miller's wife and his daughter, Cathie May, aged six, who attends Hartman's school where her father teaches, were in the audience.

Resolution Passed Last Year
Before the hearing opened Attorney Brown asked in behalf of President Glenn M. Griffin, of the school board, that the audience observe complete order during the proceedings. Griffin called the meeting to order and after a roll call showed all members present he swore in R. Heimer Hoover, board secretary, as the first witness.

Hoover told of a meeting held last September 16 when the resolution requiring the flag salute was passed in Miller's presence by unanimous vote of the directors. Hoover identified a written statement by Miller which was presented at the September meeting in explanation of his refusal to comply with the resolution. The statement was then read at the hearing. Griffin then gave up the chair to give testimony similar to that of Hoover.

The next witness was Ira Y. Baker, county superintendent of schools, who gave similar testimony concerning the September board meeting and disclosed the manner in which the case came to the attention of school authorities.

Superintendent Visited School
The county superintendent said that he visited Miller's school on September 5 of last year and inquired whether Miller used the military or civilian salute with the pledge of allegiance. Miller told him then that he used neither, Baker testified. At that time Miller told the superintendent that he would not salute the flag because of conscientious scruples. Baker was cross-examined briefly by Miller.

The assistant county superintendent, Marsby C. Little, was the next witness. He was questioned about the September board meeting which he had attended. He was cross-examined briefly by Miller.

Then Chief of Police Glenn Guise, of Gettysburg, testified that he served a notice of Monday's evening's hearing on Miller at Hartman's school, February 20. With that testimony counsel rested the board's case at 8 o'clock.

Miller, after taking an oath as a witness, began reading his defense. Excerpts from the 17-page document follow:

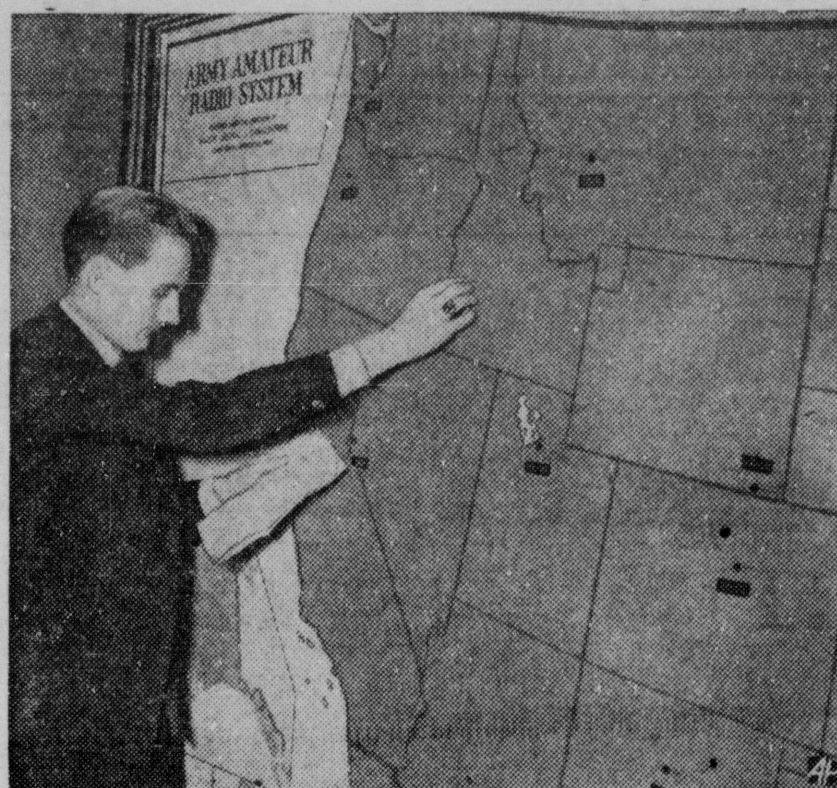

"The saluting of the flag is a religious ceremony which gives reverence and worship contrary to God's law." He gave dictionary definitions of the words "sacred, devotion, reverence and salute" and then continued: "Non-Christians may salute the flag without reference to the rules the Bible lays down about idol worship. Those who are real conscientious Christians are in a class entirely different from others of the world. Jehovah's witnesses are Christians and in a covenant to be entirely obedient to God's law. They must teach their children and admonish them to obey God's law as he has commanded. They are conscientious and they sincerely believe that for them to indulge in a formalism or ceremony of saluting any flag is a violation of God's specific commandment as set forth in Exodus 20:3-5, and emphasized in many other scriptures.

"The reason that flag saluting is a violation of that commandment is that the salute attributes salvation to the state, which the flag represents, thus making the state a mighty one, or a God whereas salvation belongs alone to Jehovah."

Miller then referred to the U. S. Constitution and said most men who had a hand in writing it believed in God and therefore were "Jehovah's witnesses." He compared their sincerity with the acts of "modern day school boards who say that school teachers and children must daily perform a religious ceremony of saluting the flag or suffer some punishment for declining to do so."

The teacher then compared his own position with that of Daniel, Mordecai and other Old Testament figures who were persecuted because they chose to obey God's laws instead of those of the state.

"The real reason for this present action brought against me is backed and moved forward by an organization that is entirely un-American and foreign to all American ideals and institutions. That organization masquerading under the guise of patriotism and hiding behind the United States flag is not the honest Catholic population of America but it is the Roman Catholic Hierarchy operating out of Vatican City, Italy, in its determination to back the entire world." Later he charged that the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the P. O. S. of A., the Sons of Veterans, the D.A.R. and other organizations are backed by that same hierarchy and warned that American liberties will be taken away if that power abroad is not checked.

He then read a lengthy quotation which he said contained the words of Abraham Lincoln in which Jesuits and their teachings were condemned. The authenticity of the statement was questioned on cross-examination but Miller said he could supply "plenty of proof" for its truth but had none with him.

He took up specifically the charges of negligence, incompetence and violation of school laws that were lodged against him and declared in each case the board had overstepped its authority and pointed to guarantees of religious freedom and freedom of conscience in the Constitution.

He closed by publicly thanking God for the opportunity of praising His name and then challenged the press to print verbatim his entire speech.

Appeal Is Provided

Mr. Brown cross-examined Miller on the source and veracity of some of his statements regarding the American Legion, the Catholic church and the alleged Catholic affiliations of a past commander of the American Legion and the assassin of Abraham Lincoln. Brown also questioned Miller on his attitude under the Minersville case in which the United States Supreme Court held that a pupil could be compelled to salute the flag in school. Miller said the case had no bearing on adults.

As Miller finished, the meeting was adjourned and the school board attempted to clear the building so that they could hold a meeting. The people lingered and the decision to meet again on Thursday evening was reached.

Miller had typed copies of his defense for all who asked for them.

After the board's decision is announced, the teacher has 30 days in which to take an appeal in the event the decision is adverse.

Turkish Cabinet Studies Message From Hitler

dom of action concerning the rupture, which may ignite the long-expected Balkan bonfire.

Unconfirmed advices said R.A.F. planes had already been sighted flying high over Bulgaria.

Troop Movements Continue
Reports from Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, said the mass movement of German troops from the north continued apace with the lines of Nazi motorized equipment, tanks, anti-aircraft guns and field artillery—sometimes in columns 50 miles long—streaming south into Bulgaria through three mountain passes.

A German mission arrived by plane at Ankara, Turkish capital, and delivered to Turkey's President Ismet Inonu what was believed to be a special message from Adolf Hitler containing assurances that Nazi troops were not planning to enter Turkey.

Turkey was reported speeding reinforcements to her frontier with Bulgaria.

A Swiss telegraphic agency dispatch from Belgrade, Yugoslav capital, reported "increasing preliminary conversations are under way for an armistice between Greece and Italy."

Russia Is Question Mark

But this was unconfirmed elsewhere, and London said Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Gen. Sir John G. Dill, chief of the Imperial general staff, were working out a plan with Greek government leaders in Athens to rush aid to Greeks in the event of a German invasion.

Russia, still the No. 1 riddle of the war, was reported reinforcing her troops on the Prut river frontier, facing Rumania, as Rumania's mobilization continued under the supervision of German staff officers. Russia's diplomatic rebuke to Bulgaria for permitting Nazi legions to overrun her country injected uncertainty in the situation.

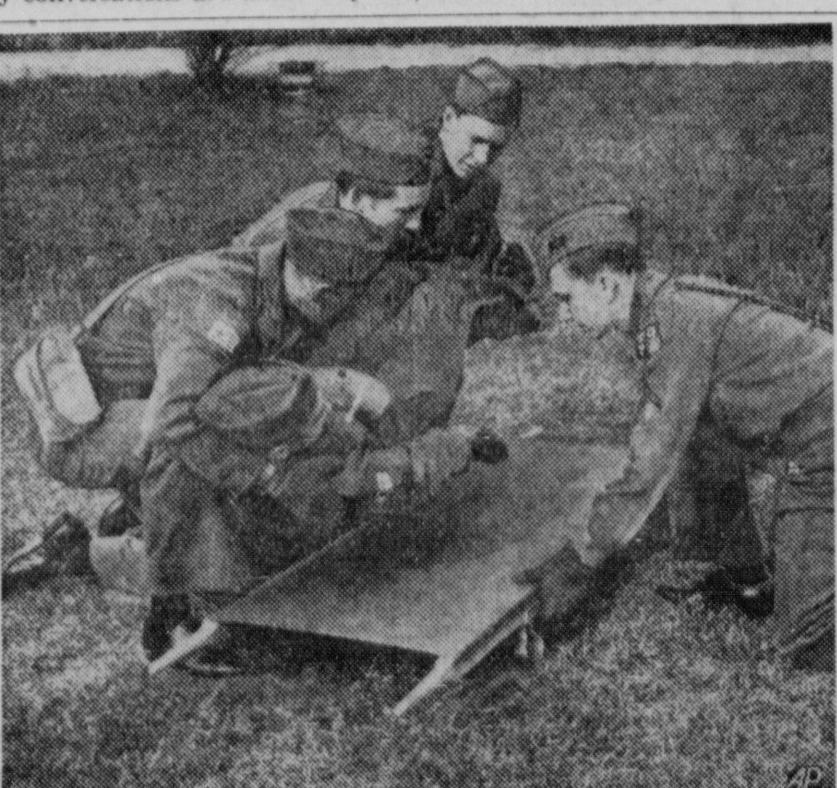

Motor Policemen Announce Arrests

Carl R. Martz, East Water street, was charged today before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder with driving a car not bearing an official inspection sticker. The information was signed by a state motor policeman from the local substation who stopped Mr. Martz last Thursday while he was taking a trial ride in a demonstration car belonging to a local garage.

Other motor police arrests follow: Harry M. Kurth, Harrisburg, charged before Justice Snyder with driving without an inspection sticker; Donald Steffo, Lewistown, charged before Justice Francis Worley, Latimore township, with making an improper pass; Paul H. Gallagher, Hanover R. 4, charged before Justice Leo A. Storm, Mt. Pleasant township, with driving without lights; Herbert H. Boyd, Baltimore, who paid Justice Ray J. Sponseller, Hamilton township, a $10 fine and costs for speeding 48 miles an hour with a truck; Charles F. Fleagle, Roosevelt avenue, York, charged before Justice William D. Brown, Hunterstown, with speeding at 60 miles an hour; John H. Sargent, Harrisburg, charged before Justice Sponseller with speeding at 50 miles an hour with a truck; Grover Whitset, Huntingdon, charged before Justice Brown with speeding at 62 miles an hour; Charles C. Foreman, Hanover, charged before Justice L. G. Kuhn, Midway, with driving without an operator's license; Kenneth Cook, Ardmore, charged before Justice Brown with speeding at 60 miles an hour, and Allen C. Jackson, Warren, Pa., charged before Justice Sylvia J. Craumer, Thomasville, with speeding at 64 miles an hour.

MIGHT TRY SIGNALS

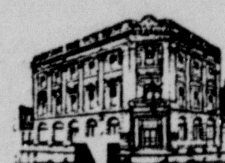

Spokane, Wash. (AP)—Judge C. W. Greenough believes the pedestrian has an advantage over the motorist. Denying application for retrial of a suit filed by pedestrian John Emang against motorist N. O. Luave, the judge ruled: "If Luave had swerved his car in the opposite direction when Emang jumped there would have been no accident but that would require knowledge by Luave as to which way the plaintiff would jump."
